Collins On U.S. Savings Assoc. Leg. Committee

The newly elected president of the United States League of Savings Associations has appointed Ernest H. Collins to the League's Legislative Committee.

Defining activities of this committee as among "the most important services the United States League... renders for its members," George Preston, president of the League, described the appointment as "truly an honor...."

As a member of the Legislative Committee, Collins, Chairman of Greencastle Federal Savings & Loan, will be a primary communications link between Congress and members of the Savings and Loan industry with respect to legislation affecting savings and lending practices. Collins has been affiliated with Greencastle Federal Savings and Loan Association since 1941, during which time he has helped guide the association from assets of $200,000 to its present $24,100,000. He also has served in several positions of national leadership, including membership on the highly prestigious Advisory

Scaggs Escapes; Truck Does Not

Glen E. Scaggs, 40, Greencastle, Route 4, escaped injury but property damage resulted in a one-vehicle accident at 10:45 p.m. Monday.

Deputy Sheriff Gerry Hoffa reported that Scaggs was driving a 1973 Chevrolet pickup truck northbound on County Road 500 West, west of Greencastle.

In rounding a curve, the pickup slid off the road into a fence owned by Eldon C. Wells.

Damage was estimated at $800 to the truck and $25 to the fence.

Deputy Hoffa also reported that at 11:09 p.m. Monday he arrested Raymond Shepherd, 24, West Columbia Street, city.

Shepherd was booked at the Putnam County jail for driving while under the influence of intoxicants and driving while his license was suspended.

Muscatatuck Yule Gifts Urged

"The need for Christmas gifts has by no means been filled at Muscatatuck State Hospital (and Training School). Additional gifts are needed immediately in order to have an adequate Christmas Gift program" according to Mrs. Joseph Crosby of Delta Theta Tau, Putnam County Christmas chairman. "We know the patients look forward to the Christmas parties sponsored by the Mental Health Association as one of the top events of the year," she said. "Sadly, many of the patients realize that their families can't or will not be with them at holiday time. The pleasure they share with groups sponsoring the parties where gifts are distributed Congress has already added to that figure by about $2.4 billion. I estimate that by the end of the session Congress will have added another $2.6 billion to the amended spending budget, resulting in a total of about $5 billion over the January budget.

As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, I believe it is important to note that the amounts approved by my committee will not exceed the President's budget for new spending authority. The budget busting will not result from increased appropriations bills but rather on non-appropriations bills which mandate spending.

Here is a partial list of mandated spending in non-appropriations bills which have been approved by this session: Food Stamp Amendments - plus $724 million; Repeal of "bread tax" - plus $400 million; Welfare-medicaid amendments-plus $122 million; Unemployment benefits - plus $116 million; Veterans' national cemeteries - plus $110 million; Social Security-liberalized income exemptions - plus $110 million; Social Security-increased benefits - plus $1.1 billion; school lunch amendments - plus $100 million; Federal employees pay raise - plus $358 million; Veterans' dependents health care-plus $65 million; airport development - plus $15 million and Civil Service Retirement items - plus $37 million.

In and out of Congress there is a great deal of talk about getting a better handle on government spending. The principal remedy lies in better control of spending by taking

PUBLIC MEETING PLANNED

Co. Counseling Service Day Set Jan. 21

Putnam County Counseling Service Day, a get-acquainted day for the community and the service was set for Jan. 21 by the agency's board of directors in their meeting last night.

The day will coincide with the first anniversary of the service here and will mark the successful completion of the initial year of counseling.

At the session, Rev. Ed Alley, counselor for the local service, outlined plans for the special event with a noon luncheon for professional members of the community, a workshop on counseling with ministers and a public meeting heading the list.

The first will be held at the First Christian Church, Greencastle, headquarters for the service.

"All interested persons are invited to the public meeting," Rev. Alley said.

Rev. Alley also noted that he "continues to have a full schedule of persons to be counseled and... it looks like this will continue."

In discussion of clients, the directors pointed to Rev. Alley listing of counselees at the service for the first year and noted that 42 persons were counseled with a waiting list still intact for next year's operation.

It was pointed out also that the ages of persons using the agency ranged from two to 64.

The persons came from all areas of the county, the directors added.

Rev. Elgin Smith, president of the board, said he attended the board meeting of the Indiana Counseling and Pastoral Care Center, Inc., of Indianapolis, the parent organization, (of which Rev. Smith is a member) and noted that at the meet much discussion centered on the work done in Putnam County.

"We (Rev. Smith and Rev. Alley were both at the Indianapolis meet,) were real proud of the enthusiasm about what is happening here," Rev. Smith said.

The directors also discussed the $800 received from the Putnam County United Fund as an advance against next year's cost of the service and thanked the fund for their action.

The service is now an agency of the county fund.

Mrs. Norman Evens also read a letter of thank you to the people of the county who "have been so supportive of the service."

The directors also went over names for nominations to the board.

A local collection center for gifts to the Muscatatuck State Hospital has been set up at Mickie's Boutique, shown, by the local mental health association. The association is calling for donations of Christmas gifts to the hospital for the patients and adds that the donations must be in by Friday.

License Bureau Accepts Orders For '74 Plates

The license bureau is now accepting orders for 1974 license plates, announced Mrs. Dottie Heavin, manager.

All orders for plates with special or low numbers must be in and paid before Jan. 1. After that time plates must be sold in numerical order with no exceptions, she said.

The bureau will accept personal checks for the special orders before Jan. 1 or for mail-in payments at anytime, but no checks will be accepted for counter sales after Jan. 1, said the manager.

The fee for special plates is $2 and the mailing fee is $1. "If a person buys plates through the mail for both a car and a truck, there must be separate checks for each," she said, "because the plates for cars are processed separately from those for trucks."

"In 1974 there will also be an excise tax on trucks from 7,000 to 11,000 inclusive," she said. Owners of trucks which are affected should be sure to include the tax in their payments.

"If for some reason, you don't receive a pre-print in the mail, you should bring in last year's registration," explained Mrs. Heavin.

Residents may bring in or mail in their pre-prints for plates anytime after Dec. 1. "Be sure the pre-print you receive is for the car you currently own," Mrs. Heavin warned.

Recent legislation increased the classifications of vehicles for excise tax from six to 10 classes. Following is a copy of the classification chart effective Jan. 1, 1974.

Rev. H.O. Miller Here

Rev. H.O. Miller has been in the United States for about one year traveling from coast to coast presenting the story of Swaziland.

He will be at the local Church of the Nazarene this Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. At that time he will present the country to us here at Greencastle via 16mm color film and he has many native things from the country that everyone can see.

The film is entitled "The Living Spear" which relates to Joshua's spear from Joshua chapter 8. "The Living Spear" presents the Swaziland country through the dreams of Bongani, the Elephant Boy.

"Across the country Rev. Miller has found that there is great interest shown in mis-

Conservation Forces New Bureau Hours

Due to the closing on Saturdays of the other offices in the court house and, therefore, a lack of heat on that day the license bureau will be adopting new hours effective Dec. 1, said Mrs. Dottie Heavin, manager.

Previously the bureau was open on Saturdays and was closed on Wednesday afternoons. New hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. The office will be closed on Saturdays. They will be open through the noon hour starting next week, though.

Boys, Girls Vie For Santa Claus Mayor

Some lucky Putnam County boy or girl could begin an early career in politics this year if he or she was born on the right day.

Santa Claus, Indiana, the famous southern Indiana resort community, has never had a "mayor" over 12 years old in its 117-year history and isn't about to break tradition in its mayoralty contest this year.

Actually, the town of over 300 isn't large enough yet to have a regular mayor, but for the past 17 years the community has held a contest each December to select some boy or girl—not yet 12 years of age—as the Honorary Mayor of Santa Claus.

This year, in addition to selecting a "mayor," an Honorary Police Chief and an Honorary Fire Chief also will be selected.

To be eligible for the contest a boy or girl must have a birthday either on Christmas Eve (Dec. 24) or Christmas Day (Dec. 25), and be in the age group of 8 through 12 on that day. Once these requirements have been met the contest is open to all boys and girls within a 250-mile radius of Santa Claus.

A little of:

This And That

Well, here it is the first of another week and I have another grim report to make.

A total of 18 persons died in Indiana highway traffic accidents during the long holiday weekend.

This brings the Hoosier road death toll, as of Monday morning, to 1,483 so far this year. This total is 93 more than at the same time in 1972.

I hate to write this, but I predict that Indiana traffic fatalities will pass the 1,500-mark before the year's end.

I am certainly glad to report that Mrs. Floyd (Cora) Eastham was able to return to her home, 332 North Arlington, on Sunday from the county hospital.

000
My sympathy is extended to Ben Cannon in the untimely passing of his sister, Libby Ann.

000
Now that the Thanksgiving vacation is over, the boys and girls can look forward to the Christmas holiday which is not in the too distant future.

000
By the way, it rained Monday and the buckets were out in the courthouse lobby.

0000
You have probably read about couples being married in an airplane.

Well, such an event happened here on November 10th.

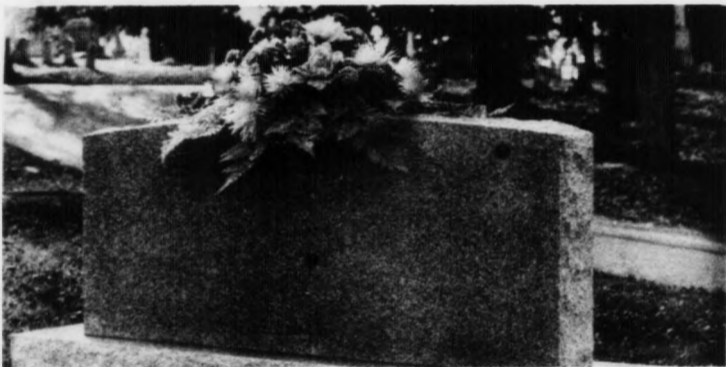

Wayne Priest and Elsie Leintz were united in marriage in a plane one mile high over the City of Greencastle.

Robbery Is Small Change

Not all robbers count their loot in the thousands. Some are willing to settle for small change and then get caught before they have a chance to spend it.

This information comes to the Banner-Graphic on a yellowed clipping from John Roach of Fillmore. A picture taken on the day the bank was robbed in the Marion township town shows that a great number of citizens took the day off to gather in front of the bank and discuss the robbery.

A news story of the holdup indicates that the robber might have received less than $200.00 for his trouble, and it was all in silver at that. A former employee of the now closed Fillmore State bank, Ted Brown, a DePauw employee, said the robber couldn't have gotten much on any given day because the bank didn't keep much cash on hand.

Break-In At Roachdale Telephone Office

The Hendrick's County telephone office in Roachdale was broken into sometime over the weekend, with $2761.83 worth of equipment and cash stolen.

State police report that damages to the office include a broken window, a jimmied file cabinet, and a damaged desk. Five calculators were taken in the burglary, along with a paymaster check writer, a tape recorder, two radios, a Polaroid camera, and $102 in cash.

The break-in was discovered when employees reported to work Monday morning. Investigation of the robbery has begun.

curtains, sat a woman behind the wheel. Those who witnessed her dust as the pair left decided she was some sort of speed demon.

The man entered the bank on the pretext of renting a farm and then switched the conversation to his real purpose. In addition to his bag of silver, he gave Cashier Amos Hunter a free ride out of town, but released him a mile or so out.

While Roach's clipping fixed the time at about noon on a Wednesday and the month to be October, there is no indication of the year or the date. The Banner-Graphic will appreciate any additional information on Fillmore's bank robbery. While it was overshadowed by Dillinger's $75,000.00 Central National bank haul in Greencastle, it was almost as significant for Fillmore people.

Proceeds from the recent Halloween masquerade and fish fry sponsored by the Roachdale Lions Club were presented last week to the Roachdale Volunteer Fire Department. The amount of the check was $300 and will be used to purchase new fire-fighting equipment. Shown above are, left to right, Herb Clones, fire chief; John McNalley, Lions president and Howard Hedge, assistant fire chief.

into account the entire budget and balancing necessary increases against reductions in other areas.

The responsibility for our fiscal situation must be borne jointly by the executive and legislative branches. The majority in Congress continues to approve budgets badly out of balance, without my vote I hasten to add, and the executive continues to approve Congressional initiatives in excess of the budget.

The issue clearly points up the necessity of better Congressional control of all spending, especially so-called back door or mandatory spending. Hopefully, a large part of the answer will be found as Congress pushes to final enactment the proposed budget control measure.

The Jefferson Township Volunteer Fire Department is receiving bids on an addition to the fire department's headquarters in Belle Union. All bids must be submitted by Dec. 1.

The addition will be a 20 feet x 48 feet storage area and will hold equipment for the fire department's annual fish fry, an old firetruck, and tables and chairs.

The fire department's trustees will be meeting Tuesday, Dec. 4, to accept a bid. So far only one bid has been submitted for consideration.

Claus Chamber of Commerce's Christmas Dinner on Dec. 22. The finalists will be selected by Chamber officials judging the letters for sincerity and originality of content—both in consideration of the child's age group.

Final judging will be on Dec. 22 with the three finalists expressing their wish to become Santa Claus's mayor.

In addition to the dinner, the three finalists and their immediate families will be the luncheon guests of the community's famous Santa Claus at the Santa Claus Land theme park and will receive a VIP tour of the park and other attractions in the Santa's Country area round the town.

With the announcement of Santa Claus's new mayor, police chief, and fire chief at the Chamber's Christmas Dinner that night, Christmas and birthday celebrations will begin early for the children as they will be presented with a stack of specially selected gifts.

Each year the Santa Claus Chamber of Commerce sponsors the contest to provide a special recognition to children who may miss some of the enjoyment of both celebrations because the birthday and Christmas come together.

Girls Basketball Starts

Ann Lawver, Greencastle High School Women's Director, asked about the success of the women's sports program at GHS, graciously took time to consider some immediate problems facing her.

"First, I'm looking forward to the start of the women's basketball season. We open Dec. 13 against Cloverdale, here at 6:30 p.m., and I'm feeling good just now, after the showing we made in the Volleyball Tournament at Indianapolis. We really played well, and demonstrated our ability to play extremely well. People have begun to be supportive, and we really relish that."

"Coach Lawver continued, "I'm enjoying the pre-season basketball practice, looking forward to playing two hours of basketball. The most difficult thing for me now is to psyche myself up for every game. I know we're a competitive team, yet its tough being solely responsible for the whole gamut of athletics. But my pleasure comes from performance, from being able to contribute something to the game."

The following is a tentative scheduling of the Women's Basketball Team 1973-74 season.

Wife's upset: Husband is 31, still wets himself

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a problem like mine in your column. Would you believe my husband is 31 and he still wets himself? Not only in bed, but while he's awake.

Last evening, after supper he went next door to talk to a neighbor and have a few beers, and when he came home [about 9:30 p.m.] his pants were soaked! I asked him how that happened, and he said he didn't know. [He wasn't even embarrassed.]

He even denies that he wets himself. He can be sitting in the living room watching TV, and when he gets up, the chair is soaked. I have scrubbed that chair more times than I can count. Our mattress is ruined. I know it's the beer, but he won't admit it and he won't give it up.

He had a physical last month and claims the doctor says he is sound as a dollar. I'm sure he never mentioned his wetting to the doctor.]

He works hard, is good to the kids, and I love him, but I can't face the neighbors knowing how they must talk about his walking around soaked. I'm losing all respect for him. Please help me. HIS WIFE IN BOSTON

DEAR WIFE: He's "sound as a dollar" all right—which at the moment isn't very sound. Your husband should see a urologist, and it's imperative that the doctor be informed about his problem. It could be a symptom of something serious, which, if caught early could be remedied.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been divorced for two years, and I have custody of our two children. Occasionally he has them for a weekend.

My "ex" recently married a widow with three children. [I am still single.] Last weekend my children were with their father, and upon returning home, they told me that Daddy had a photographer take a picture of him, his new wife, and all the children [his and hers]—for his Christmas card!

Abby, does he have the right to use a picture of my children on a Christmas card with his new wife and her children? Recipients of the card will naturally assume that my children are living with their father, and perhaps wonder if I am an unfit mother.

Should I threaten him with court action if he uses that picture on his Christmas card? UPSET AND ANGRY

DEAR UPSET: Even though you are divorced, they are his children, too. Forget it. Your friends and family will know that the children are living with you. And who else matters?

DEAR ABBY: I'm another one who never thought I'd be writing you, but here I am. I am a 21-year-old college senior. I am still a virgin and have vowed to God and myself that I will remain one until I married.

Last year I met Delores, the most wonderful girl in the world, and we became engaged. Here's the problem. We will not be married until next June, and Delores, who is also a virgin [or so she tells me], says she can't wait until next June for her first sexual experience. She says since we are going to be married anyway, what's the difference?

I am only human, and it is difficult for me to keep refusing her, but I feel that if I were to break my vow to God and myself, I would have a guilty conscience the rest of my life. Please help me. GOD-FEARING

DEAR FEARING: If Delores can't wait, and you'd feel guilty jumping the gun, why wait until June to marry? Tie the knot immediately.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "POOR OLD ED K. IN CHULA VISTA, CAL.": Why does Ethel insist on picking out your underwear? Could it be so in case you lose your pants [in the market, or at the track] you'll make a nice appearance?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Opening lead - five of hearts.

Cards invariably tell a story. The difficult part is, first, to realize that there is a story and, second, to know how to put the information to gainful use.

Here is a typical problem of defense. West led a heart, won by East with the king, after which East returned the eight, West taking declarer's queen with the ace. A heart continuation went to South's jack. Declarer played a diamond to the queen, East taking the ace, and that was the end of the hand. South won the rest of the tricks to make four notrump.

The contract should have been defeated — and West was the player at fault. He should have known the exact heart distribution in the unseen hands, and he should have permitted South to win the second trick with the queen in order to maintain a communication link with East in hearts. Had West ducked the queen, three notrump inevitably would have failed. Declarer would have lost four hearts and a diamond.

West can tell from East's return of the eight, his highest heart, that declarer started with precisely the Q-J-6 of hearts. It is true that in theory South could also have had the four, but in practice he could not, for then he would surely have played it at trick two, taking advantage of dummy's holding of the ten.

Once West reaches this conclusion, it becomes obvious that his best bet is to duck the queen and hope his partner will gain the lead before South can run nine tricks. In the actual hand, virtue is rewarded and West's duck renders declarer's task hopeless.

Gasoline, Heating Oil To Receive Cut-Back

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon says he is cutting 15 per cent from deliveries of gasoline and home heating oil to stave off severe fuel-shortage damage to the nation's economy.

The moves will mean homes six degrees cooler than normal this winter and not enough gasoline to go around.

To start saving gasoline, Nixon asked filling stations to stop selling it on Sundays, and pledged he would order such a ban once Congress gives him the authority.

In a radio-television address Sunday, Nixon said deliveries of airline jet fuel also will be cut 15 per cent, industries will be denied 10 per cent of their oil wants and commercial buildings must do without 25 per cent of their heating oil.

These and other measures announced Sunday would reduce an expected 17 per cent petroleum shortage to perhaps 7 per cent, Nixon said, but the remaining shortage will require additional measures to close the energy gap and avoid economic damage.

Nixon continued to hold in reserve, as a last resort, the possibility of direct consumer gasoline rationing or high fuel taxes.

Under existing authority, Nixon announced these steps:

—Publication, due Tuesday, of regulations to take effect next Jan. 1, ordering heating-oil dealers to sell householders 15 per cent less heating oil than they got in 1972, commercial establishments 25 per cent less; and industries 10 per cent less.

This move imposes consumer rationing, but without the complications of issuing fuel coupons.

Nixon pledged to take the following steps as soon as Congress passes emergency legislation authorizing them:

—A ban on gasoline sales from 9 p.m. on Saturdays to midnight on Sunday nights. Nixon asked filling stations to adopt such a ban voluntarily in the meantime, beginning Dec. 1.

—Establishment of nationwide highway speed limits of 50 miles an hour for automobiles and 55 miles an hour for long-distance trucks and buses.

—Bans on ornamental residential lighting and on non-essential commercial lighting.

—Reductions of fuel deliveries for general aviation, imposing a 20 per cent cut on fuel for air taxis and industrial flying, 40 per cent on corporate jets and other business flying and a 50 per cent cutback on flying for pleasure or instruction.

Nixon warned that "additional actions will be necessary to further offset the anticipated shortage."

"Above all," he said, "every step will be taken to insure that any disruptions to our economy which may occur are short-lived, and that they do not cause lasting damage."

Tobacco Exports To Japan On Increase

Medical Advance Helps Rh Negative Women

There's good news for mothers, and mothers-to-be. It used to be that if a mother's blood was Rh-negative, and the father's blood Rh-positive they could have one baby safely, but there would be a 50-50 chance of the next baby suffering a blood disease even before being born.

Now doctors have an injection to help prevent such blood disease, a major cause of birth defects. If a woman is given a shot of D-Imune within 72 hours after her first pregnancy termination—by birth, miscarriage or abortion—she can have another pregnancy with reasonable assurance the baby will not suffer a blood disease, even if she and the father have different blood types.

The problem of Rh incompatibility is not rare. According to the U.S. Public Health Service, about 8 per cent of all pregnancies are complicated by Rh incompatibility — an Rh-negative woman with an Rh-positive fetus. Rh-negative women can become sensitized to Rh-positive red blood cells of buyer of U.S. farm products generally, is shaping up as a potentially huge market for American tobacco, the Agriculture Department said today.

Tobacco use in Japan has increased eight-fold the past decade, the Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report. But Japanese production has declined, meaning that more tobacco has had to be imported.

U.S. exports of leaf tobacco to Japan, although increasing, have not kept pace with the over-all growth in the Japanese market, the report said. In calendar 1972, for example, the United States supplied 52 per cent of the tobacco imported by Japan, the smallest share in 20 years.

"In spite of the shrinking market share, both the quantity and value of U.S. leaf exports to the booming Japan market have increased every year," the report said. "Future sales seem almost certain to expand substantially, especially in view of dollar devaluation."

The report was written by B. G. Andrews, a commodity analyst in the tobacco division of the Foreign Agricultural Service.

Andrews said higher living standards and consumer demand for quality tobacco have been major factors in the Japanese market boom.

"As a result, consumption prospects and import requirements are expected to continue advancing, with imports probably reaching a total of 80,000 tons by 1975, over one-third larger than the present level," the report said.

Andrews told a reporter he could not estimate how much of the future market growth might be taken up by U.S. tobacco. The most important point, he said, was that Japan appears to be a solid customer in the years ahead.

In his report, Andrews said the smoking-and-health issue has not been a major obstacle for the tobacco industry in Japan "since the Japanese enjoy a very low incidence of both heart disease and lung cancer."

Nonetheless, Japanese smokers have demanded more filter-tip cigarettes and milder tobaccos, and the industry is searching for ways to reduce tar and nicotine contents.

"Cigarette sales in Japan will undoubtedly continue to expand," the report said. "Demand for American tobacco should also increase as smokers continue to demand better cigarettes."

Andrews said Japan, as it has done with other imports, has searched for alternate sources of tobacco and can be expected to buy from other countries to make up substantial increases in future imports.

BY FEDERAL CRIME COMMISSION

Citizens' Crusade Against Govt. Corruption Urged

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal crime commission today appealed for a citizen crusade against government corruption and the street crime it promotes.

"The system of criminal justice will break down unless citizens come forward as complainants, as witnesses, and as jury members to participate actively in the prosecution of official corruption," said the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals.

The tools of reform "can be effective only if the public is determined to rid the nation of governmental corruption," the commission said in the sixth and final report prepared during a two-year study financed with a $1.75 million grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The 364-page report was based on the work of a task force headed by Jack Michie, director of the Michigan Division of Vocational Education.

Enlisting citizen participation in a broad range of anticrime efforts, the commission encouraged such projects as prison counseling, youth recreation, and drug treatment centers. It also said teachers must abandon arbitrary discipline and practice justice in the classroom if children are to learn respect for democratic procedures.

But much of the report concerned the corruption tainting many state and local governments. Acknowledging the absence of accurate measurements of the pervasiveness of corruption, the commission said even the cases already disclosed are alarmingly numerous.

Further, the report said, "Official corruption breeds disrespect for the law. As long as official corruption exists, the war against crime will be perceived by many as a war of the powerful against the powerless."

The commission urged citizens to band together and demand such reforms as these:

—Ethics codes for state officials, enforced by a state-appointed board of private citizens with power to conduct investigations, subpoena witnesses and evidence, and conduct public hearings.

—Legislative limits on political campaign spending and a ban on political contributions from individuals who do business with the state.

—State laws at least as strong as the 1971 Federal Election Campaign Act which requires regular public reports of the money received and spent by candidates and campaign committees.

—Laws requiring public officials to disclose their personal and financial interests.

—Creation of central purchasing agencies staffed with well-paid professionals as a move to combat bribery in the awarding of state contracts.

—Tighter regulations on zoning, tax assessment and government licensing so public officials will have little room to exercise their own discretion and perhaps succumb to illegal payoffs.

The commission warned that organized crime plays a significant, though not well-documented, role in government corruption.

Organized crime thrives only in a climate of "acquiescence or active assistance of public officials," the report said.

Ford, Energy Leg. Congress Top Bills

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of Gerald R. Ford to be vice president and energy legislation share top billing this week as Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess.

The Senate, starting debate today on the Ford nomination, is to vote on confirmation Tuesday.

No senator has announced he intends to vote against the nomination, unanimously approved by the Senate Rules Committee after its examination of Ford and his record.

The House Judiciary Committee, still conducting its hearings on President Nixon's selection of Ford to replace Spiro T. Agnew, is expected to act later in the week.

The House, meanwhile, is scheduled to vote this week on a bill requiring year-round Daylight Saving Time on an experimental basis until April 1975. The measure is a response to part of President Nixon's legislative program to cope with the energy shortage.

After voting on Ford, the Senate is to take up a bill to roll back the salary of the attorney general in an effort to make Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, constitutionally eligible for appointment to the Cabinet post.

The Senate Judiciary Committee reported the bill last week without recommendation. It had received conflicting testimony on whether the measure could overcome a constitutional ban on the appointment of a Congress member to an office for which the salary has been increased during his elected term.

Saxbe, whose term does not expire until Jan. 3, 1975, was a member of the Senate in 1969 when the salaries of Cabinet members were raised from $35,000 to $60,000.

Also slated in the Senate is floor action on a House-passed bill to raise the limit on the national debt to $475.7 billion through June 30, 1974. A bipartisan effort is being made to attach a measure for public financing of federal elections to the bill.

The present $465-billion temporary debt ceiling expires Friday, and without new legislation the Treasury would run out of operating funds in about a week.

Arabs Search For Unity

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leaders of 17 Arab nations are gathering in Algiers in search of a unified approach to the proposed peace conference with Israel.

The Israeli government said it is willing in principle to begin the conference in Geneva Dec. 18. But Egypt, although it also has expressed willingness to participate, was reported reluctant to start the conference until there is some withdrawal of Israeli troops along the Suez Canal.

Negotiations between Israel and Egypt for a joint troop withdrawal were deadlocked.

The Arab summit conference in Algiers was aimed at developing "a course of action ready to face any development," one informant in Algiers said.

"This would include more fighting if diplomatic efforts fail, plus economic pressure to create a favorable international climate."

But the first pan-Arab meeting since the October war was plagued in advance by characteristic Arab disunity. Iraq and Libya were boycotting the meeting, claiming it would lead to capitulation to Israel.

And King Hussein of Jordan sent a representative to avoid an embarrassing face-to-face confrontation with Yasser Arafat and other Palestinian guerrilla leaders who reject Hussein's claim to speak for the Palestinians in Jordan.

Foreign ministers of the 17 states met in Algiers Saturday and Sunday to draft resolutions for submission to their chiefs. Conference sources said it was hoped the result would be at least the framework of a pan-Arab program of action.

The Israeli cabinet announced that, while it is willing to attend the proposed Geneva conference, Premier Golda Meir would give her final decision after Israel receives a formal invitation.

At Kilometer 101 on the Suez-Cairo road, meanwhile, an Israeli-Egyptian negotiating session to discuss new cease-fire lines was cancelled Sunday. Unofficial sources said the two sides have agreed to an Israeli withdrawal to a line several miles east of the Suez Canal.

But Egypt is demanding that it be allowed to leave a full military force on the east bank of the canal, while Israel will permit only a lightly armed police force.

The Israeli military command reported intermittent firing Sunday along both the Suez and Syrian cease-fire lines and said an Israeli soldier was killed in an exchange of artillery and tank fire on the west bank of the Suez Canal, south of the Ismailia-Cairo road. A spokesman said he was the second Israeli soldier to die on the Egyptian front since the cease-fire Oct. 24.

The Israelis have been trying to delay the peace conference until after their national elec-

Consumer Questions To President

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced on Sunday night a series of steps intended to cope with this winter's energy crisis.

Here are some of the questions consumers might be asking as a result of the President's action, and the answers based on information from the White House and other administration officials:

Q. What did the President do?

A. The main points he announced are a movement toward banning Sunday sales of gasoline coupled with a mandatory allocation program for gasoline at wholesale and retail levels, an extension of the mandatory allocation system for middle distillate fuels — including home heating oil — to the end user, and a reduction in jet fuel available for airlines. He also said he would impose a 50 mile-per-hour speed limit for cars and a 55 mph limit for buses and trucks, if Congress gives him the authority.

Q. How would the Sunday gasoline sales ban work?

A. The President is asking service stations to halt Sunday sales voluntarily beginning Dec. 1. The ban would become mandatory after Nixon receives legislation pending before Congress. All retail gasoline sales would be banned from 9 p.m. Saturday to 12:01 a.m. Monday. This applies to cars, trucks, pleasure boats, private aircraft and recreational vehicles. Service stations could remain open on Sunday, but they could not sell gasoline. The idea, officials said, is to prevent long weekend journeys while allowing people to use their cars when necessary on Sundays.

Q. What about the allocation program for heating oil?

A. The program will reduce the amounts of heating oil available for residential heating by 15 per cent, for commercial heating by 25 per cent and for industrial uses by 10 per cent. The regulations will be effective on Jan. 1, but officials said voluntary compliance is expected sooner. Enforcement will be handled by state-level committees and by the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas.

Q. How would a householder know what to expect and what to do, if his home is heated by oil?

A. Detailed regulations should spell it out, but it looks like a simple 15 per cent reduction from last year's supplies for the home owner. If you know how much fuel you used last winter, subtracting 15 per cent should tell you about how much you can expect to get this winter. The President said that much oil could be saved by lowering thermostat settings about six degrees.

Q. Will homes heated by natural gas or electricity be affected?

A. Not officially, but the government is urging these consumers to turn down their thermostats to 68 degrees or less to avoid severe shortages. No formal controls are being applied because of the difficulty in regulating how much electricity or natural gas goes to each home or business.

Some Like

Difference Between

Cox, Jaworski

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big difference between Archibald Cox and Leon Jaworski is the difference between a constitutional lawyer and a prosecutor.

And many lawyers on the special Watergate prosecutor's staff, who have been deeply suspicious of Jaworski, have come to like that difference.

But still unanswered is whether it will lead Jaworski into the same sort of confrontation with the White House that led to the firing of Cox.

"I want such tapes as are material and I intend to get them," Jaworski told the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering a bill that would cloud his status by establishing a court-appointed special prosecutor.

"I may move a little faster than some people would," Jaworski told the committee.

He was sworn in as special prosecutor Nov. 5 and two days later sent the White House a formal request for still another tape of a presidential conversation.

Jaworski's readiness to move quickly to obtain more evidence impressed staff lawyers accustomed to Cox's tendency to agonize over fine legal points that might prove more significant to the Supreme Court than to a federal grand jury.

"Archie was always looking ahead to the appeals," one staff member said. "Jaworski has more of a prosecutor's mentality."

The favorable impression Jaworski has made on his staff and on Congress appears to have undercut chances for passage of a court-appointed prosecutor bill.

So far, the White House has given the new prosecutor far more promises of cooperation than Cox ever received. Gone are the claims of executive privilege and the need to maintain the confidentiality of presidential discussions with aides.

But it has only been promises, so far. Neither Jaworski nor U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica has received any of the documents or tapes Cox went to court to obtain.

When Cox, after two court decisions upholding his right to obtain White House tapes, defied a presidential order to halt his efforts, President Nixon fired him on Oct. 20.

The dismissal left Cox's staff stunned and embittered but determined to stay intact, if possible, and continue its investigations.

The White House too was stunned by the public outcry at Cox's dismissal.

Another Bruins Year?

As Usual UCLA Tops In AP College Poll

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — To nobody's surprise, certainly not John Wooden's, the UCLA Bruins are ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press preseason collegiate basketball poll.

"I think it's logical for us to be number one in the preseason because we've done so well in recent years and we do have two key men — bonafide All-Americans — back in Bill Walton and Keith Wilkes," Bruin Coach Wooden said.

The Bruins have done better than "so well" in the opinion of about everyone who follows college basketball — seven consecutive NCAA championships and nine of the last 10.

UCLA is not the unanimous preseason choice of the panel of sports writers and broadcaster. The Bruins received 39 first-place votes and 816 points. North Carolina State is ranked second with the other two first-place votes and 706 points.

Indiana was third, followed by Maryland, North Carolina, Providence, Marquette, Notre Dame, Louisville, Kentucky, San Francisco, Long Beach State, Kansas State, Houston, Arizona, Penn., Jacksonville, Alabama, Nevada-Las Vegas and Memphis State.

UCLA, which opens the season with a 75-game winning streak Nov. 30 against Arkansas, plays North Carolina State Dec. 15 in St. Louis, site of the Bruins' conquest of Memphis State for the NCAA title last March.

Wooden said he's looking forward to Dec. 15 but that game takes secondary importance to the Pacific-8 Conference race.

Wooden said he doesn't feel more confident about this team than he has some of the others yet. "I do go into it optimistically."

"It's also going to take some time for this team to develop unity. I don't expect this team to have unity by Dec. 15 or be as strong then as it will be later on," Wooden said.

Auto Racer Shows Concern For Energy Crisis

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Personable Peter Gregg had just won his eighth race of the season, and with it the big car championship of the International Motor Sports Association.

But he appeared to be more concerned about the energy crisis than he was happy over bagging his second series title of the season.

"I own some shares of stock in Howard Johnsons," he said Sunday after combining with driving partner Hurley Haywood to outdistance the field in the Camel GT Challenge Cup finale at Daytona Beach. "The stock has been dropping regularly the last few weeks. Nobody seems to know what lies ahead for industry or for sports."

Gregg, 33, is a wealthy sports car dealer from Jacksonville, Fla. He ranks as one of the country's best road course drivers, he has a growing business empire, and he's a first class salesman.

He said after the race he already had sold his winning car to a group in Mexico for $30,000.

On the other end of the financial pole is Amos Johnson, a mustacheoed 11-year driving veteran from Raleigh, N.C.

Johnson, 31, a bachelor, drives race cars for a living. And he assured himself of a 1974 contract Saturday night by wheeling an American Motors-backed Gremlin to victory in the final Goodrich Radial Challenge Cup event for compact sedans.

But he will have to share the series driving title with Nick Craw, another bachelor from Washington, D.C. Johnson and Craw had entered the season finale tied in championship points with 34 each. And that's the way IMSA officials said they ended up after the 200-mile race.

Johnson's own Gremlin had gone to the sidelines early in the race with headlight failure. He took over a teammate's car and brought it home first, but IMSA ruled he did not drive the car he started far enough into the race to receive any championship points.

Craw, who led the race much of the latter stages in a BMW2002, also failed to finish in the points when his engine failed with nine laps remaining.

"I really don't know how much hot water the average family needs."

The only family I care about is my own. And with all the baths we take, all the laundry and dishes we have to wash, that's quite a bit of hot water. Nothing used to aggravate me as much as running out.

My husband used to say we couldn't buy a new water heater because ours was practically brand new. Well, Public Service Indiana has a beautiful compromise. They replaced our small water heater with a heavier capacity electric water heater to meet our family's hot water requirements now. They maintain the new unit at no additional cost and when it finally wears out, they'll replace it. We never have to buy a new water heater and all that service costs a flat monthly fee of $2.85.*

So if you're a Public Service Indiana customer, why don't you try the Hot Water Line. Just call your local Public Service Indiana office and they'll take it from there.

*Electric energy cost will be billed through your meter.

Ohio State Chosen To Go To Rose Bowl By 6-4 Directors' Vote

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Big Ten athletic directors sent Ohio State to the Rose Bowl by a 6-4 vote over Michigan, The Minneapolis Star reported Monday.

The newspaper said it learned that Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa voted for the Wolverines, while Ohio State, Michigan State, Purdue, Wisconsin, Illinois and Northwestern favored Ohio State.

Michigan and Ohio State battled to a 10-10 tie Saturday to share the Big Ten football championship, forcing a vote of conference athletic directors to determine the Rose Bowl representative.

Had the vote ended in a 5-5 tie, Michigan would have won the Rose Bowl trip because Ohio State played there last year.

may be completely revised after the surprising even shock development in Chicago, announced by Wayne Duke, conference commissioner.

Southern Cal won the Pacific 8 crown Saturday with a 23-13 triumph over archrival UCLA and will be OSU's opponent in the Jan. 1 football classic at Pasadena, Calif.

Athletic directors agreed earlier that the winner would go to the Rose Bowl. In the event of a tie, a 5-5 vote would give the nod to Michigan since Ohio State was the bowl representative last year.

Why the Wolverines didn't get five votes is the puzzle that had U-M Coach Schembechler bristling with anger Sunday.

"I'm bitter. I'm really bitter," he said, his voice quivering with emotion. "My team earned the right to go to the Rose Bowl."

"Why wasn't Michigan voted to go after the 1972 season? We lost to Ohio State 14-11 but we outplayed them the whole game. We would have been the best representative then."

Besides Canham's yes ballot, Michigan followers anticipated at least four other votes in the schools' favor. Athletic Directors Bill Orwig of Indiana, Bump Elliott of Iowa, Burt Smith of Michigan State and Elroy Hirsch of Wisconsin were expected to favor the Wolverines.

Anthony Davis led the way with 145 yards and the game's first touchdown, Pat Haden threw a 16-yard scoring pass to Jake McKay and Chris Lima-hu kicked three field goals.

Pitt, who was tied for 20th in the ratings, scared Penn State by taking a 13-3 halftime lead on Tony Dorsett's 14-yard run and two field goals by Carson Long, one a 50-yarder. But the Nittany Lions rallied on short runs by Bob Nagle and John Cappelletti, Tom Hull's 27-yard interception and Tom Shuman's 32-yard pass to Chuck Herd.

Meanwhile, a miserly defense held Pitt to minus 15 yards total offense in the third period.

Elsewhere, No. 12 Texas Tech shaded Arkansas 24-17, No. 13 Arizona State routed Arizona 55-19 and won the Western Athletic Conference title and a trip to the Fiesta Bowl, No. 14 Houston blanked Wyoming 35-0, No. 16 North Carolina State clobbered Wake Forest 52-13, No. 17 Tulane lost to Maryland 42-9, No. 18 Oklahoma State bowed to Iowa State 21-12 and No. 19 Missouri dropped a 14-13 squeaker to Kansas, which was tied for 20th.

Miami of Ohio, ranked 15th, earlier completed a 10-0 regular season while No. 11 Texas crushed Texas A&M 42-13 last Thursday.

Pacer Coach Says Too Many Guards

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—"This shuffling around is an impossible thing," says Indiana Pacers Coach Bobby Leonard, who apparently has too much talent at the guard position.

In a radio interview on WIBC of Indianapolis, Leonard said "I've got five good boys I can use, but from a coaching standpoint and a playing standpoint it's unfair to them and it's unfair to the rest of the ballclub."

He hinted the situation may have to be resolved by a trade. "With five, it's an impossible situation and we're going to have to do something about it."

A tape of the interview with Leonard was broadcast here during halftime of the Pacers' American Basketball Association game at New York Sunday night.

Indiana's guard squad is made up of veterans Donnie Freeman, Billy Keller and team captain Freddie Lewis, second-year man Don Buse and rookie Kevin Joyce. All have been used interchangeably during the season.

"We've got a very critical situation on our ball club. The players have a lot of feeling about it, and they're not mad. We've talked about it."

Miami Of Ohio Choice Of Pick For MAC

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Darrell Hedric, whose Miami of Ohio team is the choice of both writers and coaches to win the Mid-American Conference basketball title again, isn't snowed by it.

"You win nothing on paper," Hedric said. "I've been picked before and finished fifth. It all boils down to what happens on the court."

The Redskins, 9-2 in the conference and 18-9 overall, piled up 65½ points to 55½ for runner-up Ohio University among the coaches and had a 339-317 margin over the Bobcats in the writers' balloting.

In the coaches' voting, Bowling Green was third with 53 and then came Kent State 42, Toledo 26 and Western Michigan and Central Michigan 19 each.

Hedric has nine lettermen, four regulars and two all-conference choices back in 6-6 Rich Hampton and 6-foot Phil Lumpkin.

"We have 12 players and they will play. We will substitute in units despite the score. I like a fresh type player. Besides, it helps the team's confidence," said the Miami mentor.

At Ohio, 25-year Coach Jim Snyder returns his starters, including 6-6 all-conference George Green. The others are 6-5 Bill Brown, 6-4 Walter Luckett, 6-8 Denny Rusch and 6-6 Dave Ball.

"If we have a strength," Snyder said, "it's our quickness. Last year we went more with size. We might be the smallest in the league this time."

The Bobcats tune up for the conference race starting Jan. 12 against such powers as defending national champion UCLA Southern California, Utah and Chicago Loyola.

At Bowling Green, Coach Pat Haley toyed with the idea of a front line of 7-foot Mark Cartwright, 6-10 Skip Howard and 6-8 Cornelius. However, he's decided to bench Cartwright or Howard for the more mobile 6-6 Brian Scanlan.

"Our passing is the worst in the league," Haley said. "We've got to find guards to lead us."

Frank Truitt, in his seventh season at Kent State, said this is his best one. The addition of prized transfers, 6-6 Dennis Ode from Clemson and 6-8 Bradley Robinson from Gardner-Webb Junior College, helps.

"The only concern I've got," Truitt said, "is if we can win on the road."

Toledo Coach Bob Nichols' problem is replacing all-league Tom Kozelko. The Rockets' hopes rest with 6-4 Mike Parker, who averaged 14.2 points, and 6-8 pivotman Jim Brown.

"We've had just one scrimmage where we looked like a college basketball team," said Nichols, whose team tied for second with Bowling Green last winter.

Central Michigan also lost the MAC's leading scorer, Ben Kelson. "You don't replace a Kelson," Coach Dick Parfitt said.

The Chippewas are counting on 6-3 transfer James McElroy. He was a second team junior college All-American last season. The Chips also return the No. 2 MAC rebounder, 6-6 Dan Roundfield.

"We will have our quickest and best shooting overall since I've been here," said Eldon Miller, launching his fourth Western Michigan coaching campaign.

Miller has 6-5 Mike Steele back in the pivot after a trial at forward and also picked up two good junior college transfers, 6-2 Fred Burmette and 6-3 Jeff Tyson.

New members Ball State, Eastern Michigan and Northern Illinois, ineligible for the conference title yet, look for better years with veteran teams.

Ball State has back the nation's No. 11 scorer, 6-2 guard Larry Bullington.

Eastern Michigan has added 6-6 Larry Walls, who averaged 32 points in the junior college ranks last winter, to go with 5-11 guard Gary Tyson. Tyson averaged 23.5 points in 1972-73.

Emory Luck takes over as Northern Illinois coach and will have to do without 6-8 Jim Bradley for nine games. The nation's third best rebounder last year is ineligible because he played in a post-season amateur tournament.

Pacers Road Show Shows Improvement

NEW YORK (AP)—The Indiana Pacers' road show has been somewhat of a flop this season. So that's why it was nice to win one in New York.

Sunday night's 126-124 victory over the Nets was only the Pacers' second in 12 American Basketball Association games this year.

"This is the way we can play," said George McGinnis, who scored 37 points and collected 25 rebounds in a spectacular duel with New York's Julius Erving.

It's an old story with the enigmatic Pacers—slow starting and fast finishing. They've won the ABA title the last two years despite slow getaways like this season. They have a 10-11 record with a disputed game to be completed with San Antonio.

"We're guilty of playing badly at the start of each year," admitted McGinnis, but he couldn't explain why.

The Pacers almost lost to New York Sunday night, despite McGinnis' brilliant play.

McGinnis had scored 25 points and Roger Brown 15 as the Pacers took a 69-59 lead at halftime. The Nets came back to tie it at 78 in the third period behind Erving and Billy Paultz.

"They voted for what they thought was the best team in the conference," said Ed Weaver, Ohio State's athletic director. "They wanted to send the team that was the most consistent. That had to be us. We were too good too long this season."

Hayes admitted he was "somewhat surprised," adding: "The tie game away from home was important. And I think they believe we are the most representative team of the conference."

On the West Coast, there was no doubt that Southern Cal deserved its return trip.

"USC is back where it belongs — in the Rose Bowl," crowed Coach John McKay. "This was our best game of the season and undoubtedly it wasn't theirs."

DIPLOMATIC COACH
HOUSTON (AP) — Football coach Bill Yeoman of Houston said he didn't wish to compare his running back, Marshall Johnson, with his former star backs, Jim Strong, Warren McVea or Robert Newhouse.

"I don't want to make the mothers mad, especially Mrs. Newhouse because she has another young man coming up."

Corso Says This Is New Experience For Him

By STEVE HERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BLOOMINGTON Ind. (AP)—"This has been a new experience for me," said Indiana University football Coach Lee Corso, who now has one season of Big Ten warfare under his belt.

Corso saw his Hoosiers beaten 28-23 by arch-rival Purdue Saturday, ending the season at 2-9, including losses in all eight conference games.

"I lost 11 games in four years (as coach at Louisville)," Corso said afterward. "And now I lost nine games in one year."

Normally flamboyant on and off the field, Corso was visibly shaken after Saturday's loss and he admitted in a subdued voice, "My whole attitude is changed."

"The fact that we didn't win any Big Ten games not only makes me feel bad for myself, but even more so for my players," he said. "There was a lot of love on this team and they've worked very hard all year long."

Corso may be down, but he doesn't count on being out. "I'm only 38 years old and I feel I have plenty of time to make this team into a championship contender. They all worked extremely hard and they deserve to be at the top."

As quiet as Corso was, Purdue Coach Alex Agase was the opposite, shouting his joy for all to hear.

"It's fun winning, especially the Old Oaken Bucket game," said Agase, who completed his first year as Purdue Coach.

"Our football team...I cannot give them enough credit," he said. "They are just super."

Agase, an All-American player at Purdue in the 1940s, said "all week long, I felt like we were getting ready for the Big Ten championship and the Rose Bowl."

Year-Round
Combo Door
Does More

If your storm door is just a cover-up, don't let it bug you. Instead, investigate the benefits of wood panel combination storm and screen doors.

Combination doors are permanently installed, and have interchangeable panels of glass and screen. All that's needed to suit the seasons is a quick switch of panels. The heavy periodic maintenance required by separate storm sash and screen doors is eliminated.

Wood panel combination doors have another advantage. Unlike metal sash, wood doors can be painted or stained to blend with the front entry. Combination doors of ponderosa pine, available in stock sizes at local lumber dealers, are designed to match traditional or contemporary front door styles. They come prehung for easy installation, with hinges, hardware and latches attached. Weatherstripping is factory-applied, and the door is treated with a chemical preservative to guard against weather abuse.

NEWS OF TRAVEL

SAFARI SO GOOD

In the native language, Kenya's name means "safari."

Formerly the pet place of millionaire sportsmen, it is now easily accessible to any traveler looking for the thrills of hunting big game (with a camera) at moderate prices.

Camera safaris to the wild-life preserves are today made with speed, comfort and economy, and the inhabitants of this progressive land will see to it that you will enjoy every minute.

Nairobi, the capital, is a very new city that began life as a construction camp during the building of a railway. Among its many distinguishing features is its handsome modern architecture. At the National Museum, species of local birds and animals are mounted in natural settings. There are also all sorts of native handicrafts and musical instruments.

Only five miles from the city is the fabulous National Park where, in an area of 44 square miles, all kinds of big game roam freely. A two-hour tour can provide many of the thrills of a real upcountry safari.

Margaret Barber exudes such enthusiasm for cultural advancement that she rates tops on that "Rating Scale for Teachers" mentioned below. She unselfishly goes that "second mile" to make her classes vitally interesting and dramatic.

CASE Y-580: Prof. Margaret E. Barber, aged about 38, is a very popular psychology teacher.

For she illustrates the Bible injunction about "going the second mile."

"Dr. Crane," she telephoned me from California recently, "I am using your textbook in my classes at El Camino College. The students like it immensely."

"So I wonder if I might see you in Chicago next Wednesday."

"For I am attending a convention there and am a devotee of audio-visual teaching aids."

"If we could meet, I'd like to bring my camera and take some movies which I would then show to my psychology students."

"In this way I try to make psychology come alive, for when I reproduce my pictures by way of a TV set in the classroom, the students doubly relish seeing and hearing the authors of their textbooks."

Yet she takes them with her whenever she thinks she can obtain pictures that will interest her large psychology classes. For she is a dedicated teacher with true missionary zeal to help increase the cultural zest of all her pupils.

Rarely have I met a professor with her unselfish concern for her students.

Although I have never visited her El Camino classrooms, I am sure she would rate tops in popularity.

For college students recognize superlative teaching when they encounter it.

That's why I have long urged the use of "Teacher Rating Scales," which would permit students anonymously to evaluate their faculty.

And the topnotch professors don't object to such student ratings of the professors!

No: it is the slothful, listless or cynical faculty members who argue that students are incapable of judging sterling pedagogy.

That's malarky! And mere buck-passing!

For at age 18, teen-agers can now vote for President of the U.S.A., plus national and state Senators, Governors, plus other officials.

So they are even better able to evaluate a teacher's output, since they are in much closer contact with their classroom professors than with distant political candidates.

So send for my "Test for Good Teachers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Prof. Margaret Barber gets a "Very Superior" score thereon!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Social Security News

A recent change in the Social Security Law now makes it possible for children to collect social security payments from a grandparent's work, according to William J. Kelleher, social security manager in Crawfordsville.

The change resulted from finding that many grandparents support grandchildren whose parents are deceased or severely disabled. It seems appropriate," Kelleher said, "that checks should be paid to children when the grandparent—who has been providing support dies, retires or becomes disabled." Kelleher emphasized that the parents must be either dead or disabled before grandchildren can receive checks from the grandparents' work.

Another change in children benefits now make it possible for a disabled child to qualify for benefits on a parent's record if his disability began before age 22, rather than before age 18, Kelleher said. Patterns of living, education and training have changed to the extent that many children do not have regular earnings until their early twenties.

This usually prevents young people from building disability insured status on their own before age 22, Kelleher said. Now when one of their parents dies, becomes disabled, or retires, the disabled child can qualify for a monthly check if disability began before age 22.

For more information on these provisions designed to help children who have suffered a loss of support, contact your local Social Security Office.

We'll Have To Tighten Our Belts

Owners' Reactions To Sunday Closing Mixed

By CRAIG AMMERMAN

Associated Press Writer

Service station owners reacting to President Nixon's energy message say they will for the most part voluntarily close on Sundays. But many of them are either skeptical of the effects Sunday closings will have or upset because they say their income is being cut.

Reaction to Nixon's speech also came quickly from homeowners, politicians and businessmen. But gas station owners were the most vocal.

"A Sunday sales halt probably will effect some fuel savings, but will kill off marginal gas stations," said Walter F. Stein of Columbus, the Ohio representative to the National Congress of Petroleum Dealers.

There were station owners who echoed Phil Benson, a Shell station manager in Phoenix. "We'll just have to tighten our belts a little. This is an emergency," he said. "There is a shortage, and if we don't cooperate now, when the government comes down hard, we'll have nothing at all."

Most station managers contacted after Nixon's Sunday night address said they would comply, but some were upset.

Some said the 15 per cent cut in gasoline production which Nixon will order will cut their profits unless the government allows them a greater profit margin. Others said the production cut would run them out of business. Representatives of dealers associations said that since the great majority of stations are closed anyway on Sunday the closing would have little of its anticipated effect.

Nixon also said Sunday night that he wants legislation to set mandatory speed limits of 50 miles per hour for cars and 55 m.p.h. for buses and trucks. He also said he will sign legislation cutting heating oil by 15 per cent to consumers, 10 per cent to industry and 25 per cent to commercial businesses.

Govs. Tom McCall of Oregon and David Hall of Oklahoma applauded the President's actions, but they said they doubted the public would observe 50 m.p.h. speed limits if they see buses and trucks whizzing by them.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp urged an immediate ban on all American oil exports and a restriction on oil company prices. He said unless such a restriction was imposed, "then the people are being asked to sacrifice more than the oil companies."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a leading congressional proponent of strong government actions to deal with the energy crisis, said Nixon's actions were "phase one of what looks to be another string of phases. More and stronger action must follow this."

Homeowners and businessmen contacted after Nixon's speech were generally supportive of his proposals.

"It's the only thing he can do, really," said Mrs. Leslie Lohman of Buffalo, N.Y. "It will be a little colder, but I think we can endure it," said

Maxine Morgan of Conneaut,

Ohio.

But there were skeptics. Persons who said they had always kept their thermostats at 68 degrees in the winter wondered if they could stand a 15 per cent fuel reduction, as did persons in areas which had a mild winter last year.

Resume Efforts To Remove DC9

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

Crews at Louisville's Standiford Field resumed efforts early today to remove a DC9 airliner stuck in the mud since it ran off the end of a runway Saturday.

The airport was closed temporarily starting at 2 a.m. and was to reopen when the Eastern Air Lines jet was extricated and pulled back onto the runway.

Flights had resumed at 1 p.m. Sunday after the airport was closed to incoming flights for 25 hours because of the mishap.

None of the 16 passengers and four crew members aboard the plane was hurt when the plane failed to stop at the end of the runway while landing after a flight from Chicago.

During the airport shutdown, 65 to 70 incoming flights were canceled, and airlines flew or bused hundreds of Thanksgiving holiday travelers to other airports and then bused them to Louisville. Many travelers leaving Louisville also were bused to other airports.

The airfield reopened Sunday after officials decided it would be safe for planes to land without using the 1,000 feet of runway closest to the stuck plane.

Uprising Of Students Major Factor In Coup

ATHENS, Greece (AP) —

"President George Papadopoulos was so busy fighting off the Left that he forgot to look to his right," one Athenian commented after the bloodless overthrow of the former army colonel who ruled Greece for the past seven years.

The uprising of leftist students that Papadopoulos quelled last weekend apparently was a major factor in the generals' decision to oust the president Sunday. But according to the slim evidence available, Greece's new rulers appear to be farther to the right than Papadopoulos.

The student riots "may have been the straw that broke the camel's back," one veteran observer said. "Papadopoulos moved too slowly against the students, dissatisfying many of his hard-line military backers."

One of the officers most often mentioned as probably a major mover in the coup is Brig. Dimitrios Ioannides, who heads the military police. He successfully resisted attempts by Papadopoulos earlier this year to have him transferred to a less sensitive post. The armed forces chief, Gen. Dimitrios Zagorianakos, also maneuvered to have Ioannides transferred, and the new regime dismissed him Sunday.

Many Athenians at first believed that the new coup meant the overthrow of dictatorship and the re-establishment of democracy. The mood was optimistic. But the new regime's communiques clarified that hard militarism had returned, and the mood changed.

To hardline conservatives the change was welcome.

"Papadopoulos was slipping," said one 70-year-old pensioner who had once been an ardent supporter of the former strongman. "Anarchists and Communists were being given a free hand again, and someone had to take control."

But many Greeks appeared to take the new turn of events casually, with the feeling that another dose of confusion was no catastrophe. Since World War II, Greece has endured five years of civil war, seven general elections in which 50 political parties took part, about a dozen governments, two successful coups, the fall of the monarchy, two referendums and occasional bloody political riots.

Purge Of Military Rulers, Police Commands Underway

ATHENS, Greece (AP) —

Greece's new conservative military rulers are purging the military and police commands after ousting President George Papadopoulos in a bloodless coup.

The new regime, headed by Lt. Gen. Phaedon Gizikis, indicated that it was junking Papadopoulos' promise of a return to limited parliamentary government next year. The generals said they could not stand by while the country was "being dragged into an electoral adventure" and was threatened by "anarchy, chaos and vandalism," an apparent reference to the recent student uprising in which 13 persons were killed.

Papadopoulos, the former army colonel who engineered the 1967 military takeover, was reported under house arrest at his seaside home near Athens.

Gizikis was sworn in as president in a televised ceremony Sunday.

The 8.5 million Greeks accepted their latest political upheaval with outward calm. No disturbances were reported.

Tanks and troops of the army, air force and navy enforced a curfew in Athens. There was considerable movement of tanks Sunday night, but otherwise quiet prevailed.

Gizikis, who commanded the 1st Army, and his associates moved swiftly against those considered loyal to Papadopoulos.

They ousted the commander-in-chief of the armed forces, Gen. Dimitrios Zagorianakos; the army chief, Lt. Gen. Michael Mastrandonis; the air force commander, Air Vice Marshal Thomas Mitsanakis; the Athens police chief, Nicholas Daskalopoulos, and Premier Spyros Markezinis and his cabinet.

The navy chief, Rear Adm. Petros Arapakis, was the only service chief to escape the purge.

The new regime was also reported purging the hierarchy of the vast state police network that Papadopoulos built up in the seven years after his colonels' junta overthrew Greece's last parliamentary government.

Adamantios Androutsopoulos, who had been finance minister, was named premier. He heads a cabinet of retired generals, a retired admiral and conservative politicians.

Gizikis, who is in his mid-50s, is described as a rightist, a staunch supporter of Greece's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a friend of ex-King Constantine. But there was no indication that the new president would reverse Papadopoulos' abolition of the monarchy last June.

Some observers expressed belief that Gizikis is not the real power in the new government. There was speculation that the architect of the coup and the new strongman is Dimitrios Ioannides, the military police chief.

Some sources said Papadopoulos had tried unsuccessfully to ease Ioannides out. Ioannides was also said to have been infuriated when Papadopoulos waited for four days before moving to put down the student uprising.
